(Check out the Galatic Armory mod.). absoluteley awsome and its in english guys please buy its worth every pound. After playing the Prelude I will be picking up the next chapter, Escape. Really immersive experience, and its brought about very quickly.. really helpful for people trying to run a life server and do map stuff because everything is right here with in the program. You can open PAA files with this program also. It will take some time getting used to but just take a few mins and watch some youtube videos and you will be good to go.

would recommend if you're into map editing or texture editing.. Was fun for a bit, player-base is dead. Don't get this gamel.

I really do like this game. I just think that you should add an in-game music player and add some free DLC. Update the game. Add more images for the backgrounds. Add different gamemodes. Just try and flesh it out. Good luck Dev.. This game is really fun to play and is based on solving puzzles by making clones of yourself. It has a nice soundtrack, suitably eerie music for its setting and engaging visuals (honestly, I kept jumping along the edges to see more of the world!). The puzzles increase in complexity and the main gameplay style switches half way through to add another layer to the puzzles.

The storyline begins with you waking up in a lab with no knowledge of how you got there. A disembodied voice provides some guidance as you make your way through the facility and dialogue between the two characters helps piece fragmented memories together to explain how you came to be where you are.

There are two outcomes - be sure to find them both!. T! RACIST BULL♥♥♥♥♥♥. This is another game similar to Limbo and Inside, except it takes less time to complete and it doesn't include puzzles. It's not a gameplay, but rather a walking simulator about depression and suicide. I would recommend this game to achievement hunters as they are easy to collect and if you're into games with deep messages in them.. this is some golded stuff and I hear it will get better from hear on out? this is some golden stuff. I do wish online was still ticking tho.... Just watch the second video!. I thought this game was pretty challenging and also fun to play.
